BEAMING AT THEIR NEW SCHOOL

PHOTOS BY AMANDA BROWN/THE STAR-LEDGER
